LDI Acquires CTVI

Jericho NY, July 1, 2020 – LDI Color ToolBox, one of the largest regional suppliers of digital office technology, announces its acquisition of CTVI, Inc, a leading provider of low voltage wiring, telephony and security surveillance solutions.

LDI Color ToolBox has an established history of solving business challenges and incorporating emerging technologies into its managed services and product portfolio. After many years as a client and a partner, LDI identified CTVI as a great addition to our managed services departments. CTVI's expertise in low voltage wiring, telephony, wi-fi design and security surveillance solutions serves as an enhancement to LDI's other collaboration and unified communication products offered through LDI CONNECT Managed IT Services and the LDI Pro AV group.

LDI Chief Operating Officer, Paul Schwartz commented, 'This new acquisition enhances our portfolio and expertise in communications with integrated business phone/voice, chat, video conferencing, file sharing, email, and more. Alex Adler, President of CTVI said,"LDI has always been one of our respected clients and partners. This merger will be especially meaningful to a very loyal CTVI client roster that can now avail themselves of world class digital office technology solutions and professional services."
